

Rural counties in Wisconsin have both a higher unemployment rate and a lower rate of natural population increase than more urbanized counties

