

Census areas where a majority of the population holds a bachelors degree or higher are among the highest paid and most likley to be employed

